1.1.1. Curricula developed and implemented have relevance to the local, national, regional and global developmental needs which is reflected in Programme outcomes (POs), Programme Specific outcomes (PSOs) and Course Outcomes (COs) of the Programmes offered by the Institution

Keeping in view of local and regional relevance, Internship both online and offline are integrated in the curriculum so that the students get a view of the competitive world and equip themselves accordingly. The global strategies on-line with Sustainable Development Goals were integrated in the curricula of most Programmes to keep track of the global swifts and trends so that the students can develop global competencies. The student achieves capability for employability, innovation and research. Computer science, IT and Computer Applications departments have reasonably modified the university syllabi by including relevant courses keeping in view with local, regional and global context. The Department of Mathematics, Physics and Chemistry have modified the courses suiting to the current developments in science domain. The department of Commerce, Commerce with Corporate Secretaryship and Business Administration have optimally revamped the subjects to the current business and Management trends. The language departments namely English, Tamil and Sanskrit too introduced the courses involved in active enhancement of LSRW skills which directly and indirectly help the candidate for the holistic development involving the harmonious integration of Hand, Heart and Head. These aspects accordingly are reflected with each students outcome through POs, PSOs and Cos.
